The children's story begins in the small village of Lidice, Czechoslovakia. In 1942, the Nazis invaded the village and rounded up the men and boys. The women and children were sent to concentration camps.

The children of Lidice were terrified. They didn't know what was going to happen to them. But they were determined to stay together and to help each other.

The children were led by a young girl named Marie Skodová. Marie was only 12 years old, but she was already a leader. She was brave, intelligent, and resourceful.

Marie and the other children hid in the woods and in the fields. They lived off the land and they helped each other to stay alive.

The Nazis were determined to find the children. They searched the woods and the fields, but they could not find them.

The children of Lidice were hidden for almost a year. During that time, they faced many challenges. They were hungry, cold, and afraid. But they never gave up hope.

In the spring of 1943, the children were finally found by the Nazis. They were taken to a concentration camp, where they were subjected to torture and starvation.

But even in the face of such cruelty, the children never lost their spirit. They continued to hope and to help each other.

In the end, the children of Lidice were liberated by the Allies. They had survived the war, but they had lost everything. Their families had been killed, their homes had been destroyed, and their lives had been forever changed.

The children of Lidice were heroes. They risked their lives to stand up for what they believed in. They showed the world that even in the darkest of times, hope and courage can prevail.

The story of the children of Lidice is an inspiring and heartwarming tale of courage and resilience. It is a story that will stay with you long after you finish reading it.
